Greg Ruby...

Dear Fellow Maryland TAMSters,

Enclosed with this letter is your example of the 1994 Annual Meeting Souvenir. This elongated cent, designed by member Mill Hajek, was issued in a limited number of nickels and dimes for distribution at the annual meeting held at the Atlantic Rarities Expo in June. The nickel and dime combination totals 15 cents, linking it to our club's 15th anniversary.

Just a quick reminder of our upcoming Swap Meet. It will be held at Grace United Methodist Church, Charles Street and Northern Parkway in Baltimore, on Saturday, September 17th from 12 noon to 4 p.m. There will be a very brief business meeting at the start of the swap meet. If you have not signed up for your FREE table for the swap meet, do so NOW! Drop me a line at Box 728, Hampstead, MD 21074 or give me a call at (410) 239-6854. Also, feel free to bring guests to the swap meet to enjoy the fun and refreshments.

MD TAMS will meet at the Associated Coin Clubs Coin Show on Sunday, October 23rd from Noon to 2 p.m. This show is held at the Victory Villa Community Center at Martin Blvd. and Compass Road in Middle River. Come early and enjoy the show. After the meeting, the MSNA will hold it's Educational Seminar and our own Mill Hajek is one of the speakers.

MD TAMS will also meet on Saturday, November 19th from noon to 2 p.m. at the Suburban Baltimore/Washington Coin Show at the Baltimore Convention Center. This meeting, as well as the October 23rd meeting, will feature a brief program, show and tell sessions, and the auction. Please feel free to bring items for both Show and Tell and the auction!

I look forward to seeing you at one of our upcoming events!

Sincerely,

Greg D. Ruby
President

INVITATION

*If you are a dreamer, come in.
If you are a dreamer, a wisher, a liar,
A hope-er, a pray-er, a magic bean buyer...
If you're a pretender, come sit by my fire
For we have some flax-golden tales to spin.
Come in!
Come in!*

Now, if we were in a literature class could we have a ball with INVITATION!

*My fire is the MD TAMS JOURNAL and boy...do I ever want YOU to sit by my fire!
As a matter of fact I need you to come sit by my fire!... What do I mean by this?? This is our journal and it won't happen unless you contribute. Come sit by my fire...*

I know that there are dreamers, wishers, liars, hope-ers, pray-ers, magic token buyers, pretenders out there in MD TAMS land... Let me know your dreams...your wishes...your lies...your hopes...your prayers...your magic tokens...your pretenses...and then we'll put them all together and you'll read about them in your journal!

*Do we ever have flax-golden tales to spin! There's not a token in your collection that can't spin a flax-golden tale...not all of these tales are obvious, but they are there and we are too lazy too spin them...or we don't have enough time (that's usually my excuse!) or we can't find the details...or we think we don't know how to write (that hasn't stopped Mill Hajek or yours truly)...so be brave...be not afraid...take some time...and spin a tale for the good of
YOUR Journal...Just think about it...if Jim Boswell can do it...anybody can!!!*

Please Folks...Do COME IN!

DO COME IN!

We need you and your tales...so start spinning NOW!!

MORE FROM YOUR EDITOR!...

Now, please don't mistake this for a space filler, even though that's what it is. MD TAMS has over a hundred members, yet at our meetings we usually have only 20 or so show...the die-hard tokenites. We've had some really great meeting through the years and if you haven't been to one lately give some serious thought to joining in at the upcoming Swap-Meet...to be held at Grace United Methodist Church, Charles Street and Northern Parkway in Baltimore, on Saturday, September 17th from 12 noon to 4 p.m....usually a great event!

OR

Join with us at the Associated Coin Clubs Show on Sunday, October 23rd from Noon to 2 p.m. This is held at the Victory Villa Community Center at Martin Blvd. and Compass Road in Middle River. Same day and place for the annual MSNA Educational Seminar with Mill Hajek as one of the speakers.

OR

Join with us on Saturday, November 19th from noon to 2 p.m. at the Suburban Baltimore/Washington Coin Show at the Baltimore Convention Center. Bring action material or a "show and tell" item...after you show it write it up for the journal...!!!

There will not be another issue of the JOURNAL before these meetings so put them in your calendar right now!

And...just in case there's nothing to print in the Winter Journal...due just before Christmas...or if I'm running late... I hope everyone has a real Merry Christmas or Holiday Season whichever you prefer... hopefully you'll hear from me again before then...but just in case...!!!

TOKEN POTPOURRI

BY MILLARD W. HAJEK LM# 1

A CARDBOARD TRANSPORTATION CHIT

Recently, while attending a coin club meeting, a fellow collector ask me about my token collecting interests and in particular, about transportation tokens. Of course, I quickly responded that I collected all types of tokens and medals from Maryland. And with that introduction, he presented me with the cardboard transportation chit that is illustrated below.

Apparently, this gent was going to be drafted into the armed services in 1944 during world war II and as a selectee was given this "chit" to provide him transportation to the induction center. Lucky for me that he drove his car to the center and preserved this great memento of that personal significant occasion over all those years.

I made a quick check in the bible of transportation tokens, "The Atwood-Coffee Catalogue Of United States And Canadian Transportation Tokens" and came up empty handed for any attribution and information. It seem that the catalogue only lists round cardboard transportation tokens and does not list tickets. Following is an excerpt from the catalogue under the heading COMPOSITION.

Cardboard tokens are referred to in this catalogue as "fibre", and we only list them if they are round. It is true that some rectangular cardboard tickets were used the way metal tokens are used. That is, they were sold, taken up, and resold. But we only list them if they are round. The problem of differentiating between the few authentic varieties of reuseable cardboard tickets, and the hundreds of thousands of varieties of one-shot cardboard tickets, would be beyond the abilities of the present cataloguers to solve.

So, I don't know if this cardboard ticket is scare but I do know that it is a welcome addition to my Maryland transportation token collection. Does anyone else have one of these tickets in their transportation token collection? If so, let me hear from you!

KNOWLEDGE MAY BE ITS OWN REWARD BUT WE'VE PLACED SOME IN THESE PAGES OF THE MD TAMS JOURNAL JUST FOR YOU!

MARYLAND or MISSOURI?

The Answer...

Jim Shipley - C 40

This aluminum token has lettering and the same cent sign as the Fort Leonard Wood bottle return deposit tokens. To me it was the unknown factor the token needed to confirm the era of manufacture of the Fort Leonard Wood exchange series.

In corresponding with Steve Alpert of Los Angeles, CA. I was advised that Forest Park Highlands was a Missouri Park with tokens used in the early 1950's.

My theory of 1928 vintage for the exchange series was dashed as 1928 being the only year of possible use in Maryland.

SPECIAL

For those attending the MD TAMS SWAP MEET there will be available a supply of EDGEMONT, MD, J.A.N.P.Co., Brass 5 for a very nominal fraction of catalog value...listed a "G".

From an antique dealer's mountain hideaway.

He showed me one and then brought out a cookie tin full of them!!

Be sure to see Jim Shipley for this one-token town...

The Cannery Program

To prepare to enter life in Baltimore in 1883, students watch a 15 minute slide show coordinated with a map. It introduces representative cannery characters: the owner, a young black shucker, an immigrant Polish girl, the head of the canmakers' union. Each child receives a Character Card to wear, giving him or her a job, name, age, race, skill level, family, and neighborhood. Characters have been assigned appropriate jobs; for instance, those who can't read can't become bosses. Guides will lead the students to their work areas, where they put on appropriate clothing items (hats, gloves, aprons). Workers are paid in brass tokens, (each worth 5¢), by the piece and according to job level. Cannery jobs are:

Level 1

- Loaders -- move oyster baskets and pails by cart
- Can fillers -- fill, weigh, and cap cans with adhesive stickers
- Labellers -- glue on labels

Level 2

- Shuckers -- open real, glued shells with knives to remove clay meats
- Steamer -- operates simulated steam pressure cooker pulley and gauges

Level 3

- Canmakers -- cut, roll, and form cardboard cans with metal lids
- Printers -- typeset school name and print on three color labels
- Clerk -- enters bills and receipts in ledger, does payroll

Level 4

- Foremen -- pay tokens, enforce work rules, help with problems
- Master Craftsmen -- oversee print and can shop operations
- Owner -- writes and receives letters, does balance sheet

Oysters are delivered to the shuckers, who stand in stalls at a long table. Each dumps the shells and fills a pail with meats, which are taken to Filling. Meanwhile, upstairs in Canmaking and Printing others are at work at their machines. Finished cans roll down a chute from Canmaking to Filling, after which they are delivered to Steaming. Labels are sent by dumbwaiter elevator from Printing down to Labelling.

After 15 minutes of work, every gets a break to prepare to switch jobs. Unskilled workers (levels 1 and 2) now become craftsmen and supervisors (levels 3 and 4), and vice versa. After this shift, students clean up, then divide into two groups. One goes to the neighborhood store, where they see how little their nickels can buy, and the Guide leads a discussion. The other group uses a computer program which asks them to focus on and apply their cannery experiences to work today. The groups switch after 15 minutes. Each child takes home a can that he or she helped make.

NEW YORK WEEKLY

A JOURNAL OF USEFUL KNOWLEDGE, RECREATION, AMUSEMENT, & CHANGE.

Entered According to Act of Congress, in the Year 1885, by Street & Smith, in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, Washington, D. C. Registered at the Post Office New York, as Second Class Matter.

Vol. 40.

Office 31 Rose St.

AN AUTOMATIC MONKEY CHANGER.

Mr. John T. Wilson, of New Orleans, is the patentee of an ingenious piece of mechanism, intended for use on street cars. It is a cash-box so constructed as to be an automatic money-changer.

In the top of the box are two openings one for fares and the other for money to be changed. If the passenger desiring to pay fare should offer a silver dollar to be changed, he would drop it into the box through an opening marked "Change." The dollar would go into some inner recess, but at the same moment a half dollar, a quarter-dollar, two dimes, and a nickel would appear in a small basin in reach of the passenger, who would thus get his change and then drop his nickel into the place for fares. If a half-dollar should be offered for change, a quarter-dollar, two dimes, and a nickel would be returned by the ingenious mechanism. If a quarter-dollar were offered, the change would come out in the form of two dimes and a nickel. A dime put in for change would bring forth two nickels. If by mistake a nickel should be dropped into the change hopper, it would not disturb the interior arrangements, but would pass through into the basin and be returned to the passenger.

There are also on the side of the box, under glass, four dial plates filled with hands or indices, which mark the amounts of money in the change department. One dial plate shows the number of half-dollar pieces, another gives the quarters, a third shows the dimes, and a fourth the nickels. When a car starts out, the change-box must be furnished with a proportion of coins of the denominations mentioned, and as change is made, and as these are successively dropped out, others must be put in their places. These dial plates show what is on hand, and obviate the necessity of examining the interior of the mechanism.

LITTLE PEOPLE'S RESEARCH FUND PROMOTIONAL TOKEN

by David G. Doernberg

During the recent Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) fund drive (also known as the United Way), I visited an exhibit table of the Little People's Research Fund (LPRF). I was able to obtain several tokens of aluminum or similar light metal. The token is one inch in diameter. As can be noted from the reproduction below, the Little People's Research Fund, logo...and Est. 1980 appears on one side. The obverse shows their initials, LPRF and their mailing address in Towson, MD.

United States Sales Tax Tokens & Stamps
by Merlin K. Malehorn & Tim Davenport
BOOK REVIEW by Cutis H. Judge

A new work on United States sales tax tokens and many types of related exnumia was published in late 1993 by Jade House Publications. This volume is a further expansion on the previous works covering the subject by various authors. In 1977 when issued, Pfefferkorn and Schimmel's "Chits, Chiselers, and Funny Money" became the standard reference for the tax token collector. This new effort by Malehorn and Davenport far surpasses all previous compilations and now must be considered the standard reference for the field. The book is in the 8 1/2" by 11" format, hard bound, 390 pages in length, and filled with very high quality photos of the various items discussed.

The effort of producing the catalog was a joint effort among several people. The historical sections of the catalog were prepared by Tim Davenport. They focus upon the advent and disappearance of sales tax tokens and revolve largely around the state government issuers. The technical information and listings in the catalog were prepared by Merlin Malehorn with a great deal of support from many collectors. David Schenkman and Paul Cunningham were responsible for the photographic and other work necessary to provide illustrations.

The work is arranged in typical fashion with numbering system, rarity guide, varieties, grading and numerous other topics being discussed in the introduction. A clarifying discussion on "transparency" of the various plastic issues is included to help the novice collector muddle through a tough area in determining the cataloging of many tokens. All tokens and related items like boxes and roll packaging material are listed in the body alphabetically by state. 27 states are represented as well as large sections covering miscellaneous tax related exnumia and other related items.

For reasons the authors list, it was necessary to institute a complete new numbering system in this catalog which did not co-ordinate with either of the existing systems previously published. A section called CODE-DECODE is thoughtfully included to substantially reduce the headaches involved in the transition. This section cross references the three systems -ATTS, CHITS, and SCHIMMEL on a state by state basis.

For the collector of tax tokens and related exnumia this new work by Malehorn and Davenport is a must have. Other state and topical collectors will find that the work is a welcome addition to their exnumia library. It is available for $49.95 plus $3.50 shipping from
